

Prepared for A.C.E.

Introduction

- Kim: Visual and dramatic artist, practicing teacher.
- Completed A.C.E. in 2013.
- Returned for Master of Education.
- Research Assistant for CNAL (with the recommendation of the UNESCO Chair in Arts and Learning: Benjamin Bolden).

The Goal of the Network

- As arts education in all its many forms stands at a precarious crossroads, it's clear that a united voice needs to emerge at a national and policy level, working on behalf of, and in support of, all arts and learning organizations and the individuals and communities they serve.
- We believe that The Canadian Network for Arts & Learning is best positioned to be that national voice and have adopted a new, inclusive strategy to ensure that all of Canada's arts and learning practitioners are represented.

Building a Creative Canada

Our Mission:

To unite local, regional and national arts and learning communities in a network for exchange, research and collaboration, cultivating a more creative, innovative and prosperous Canada.

The Eduarts Map

Click for Video Overview of Eduarts Map

- Will allow stakeholders to explore arts education programming in their community.
- Build connections between professionals, such as administrators, teachers, and professional artists.
- Provide CNAL with important data about how arts education can improve, and where accessible programming already exists.

This map could help you recruit clients, find a job, or continue your own artistic learning!

How do you join? (Yes, it is FREE!)
